

Dear business owners and property managers,

The City of Roseville invites you to join us for a virtual workshop to inform businesses and property owners about the benefits and logistics of the Voluntary Benchmarking Program. Participants in these webinars will be given directions how to accurately report and track buildings' energy usage while learning about the benefits of benchmarking.

The goal of these workshops consists of helping business owners and property managers understand how the program will help assess building energy performance, and identify opportunities to save money by cutting energy waste. In using the information and materials, attendees will learn the metrics behind Energy Use Intensity (EUI), the importance of benchmarking buildings, and how to report building data into Portfolio Manager.

We are offering two opportunities to learn more about Roseville's new Voluntary Benchmarking Programs and the benefits and cost savings it could provide for your business. The first workshop will be on March 11 at 9:30 am. The second workshop will be on April 8 at 9:30 am. Both of the workshops will be virtual meetings via Zoom, and will provide the same content. Links for the workshops are included below. When attending, please be sure to include the name of your business or organization along with your name.
