City of Roseville 2024 Year-End Recycling Report

Roseville's recycling program continues to be a leader in the country. Outreach and education elements of the program are an important part to ensuring good participation and helping residents understand the benefits of recycling. Participation continues to be at or among the highest in Ramsey County at 96%. Despite the continued lightening of packaging, the tons of recycling collected in Roseville in 2024 stayed steady with only a small decrease. Roseville residents demonstrate a genuine desire to support the program, understand what can truly be recycled, and recycle as much as possible.

In the current recycling climate, it is even more critical to work to keep Roseville's recycling clean and free of contamination, which is one of the reasons Eureka Recycling decided to launch a recycling app in 2018. By working with a company called ReCollect, we launched a recycling app that Roseville residents can use online at eurekarecycling.org or can download to their mobile device for free by searching for "Eureka Recycling" in their app store. The app allows residents to look up individual items to find out if they are accepted in their recycling program or not, and can also be connected to Ramsey County listings and resources for guidance in handling hard to recycle items like electronics, scrap metal, and appliances. The app also allows residents to see their recycling schedule and sign up for reminders to support their participation in Roseville's recycling program.

In 2024 we saw a continued increase in the number of Roseville residents using the app. Overall, 6,818 unique Roseville addresses have been searched through the app, and over 27,633 materials have been looked up to see if they can be recycled. There are currently 1,573 Roseville residents signed up for recycling day reminders: 59% of those residents are signed up through a mobile app and the rest are signed up for email, text, or phone call reminders.

This year-end report contains information on several areas that Eureka Recycling tracks to monitor the success of Roseville's zero waste recycling program over the course of each year. As a non-profit social enterprise, we believe tracking and reporting this data is an essential way to ensure program transparency. It also gives Eureka Recycling and city staff the tools needed to successfully manage the program.

ENVIRONMENTAL BENEFITS SUMMARY

The environmental benefits of Roseville’s zero-waste recycling program are quantified transparently using a widely accepted environmental model. This ensures that all residents have a chance to see how their efforts can be measured and quantified. There are many ways to calculate the benefits of recycling. To better explain these benefits in commonly understood terms government agencies, research scientists, and economists have created several “calculators” to translate the amounts of recycled materials collected and processed into equivalent positive societal and environmental benefits.

Because of the increasing societal focus on both the causes of and the solutions to climate change, it has become imperative to measure waste reduction (and all our activities) in terms of its impact on the environment. This allows us to speak in a common language, understand the impact of our choices, and help us prioritize the personal and policy actions that we take. In addition to climate change mitigation, there are other environmental benefits to recycling, including saving energy, protecting air quality, water quality, natural resources, natural beauty, habitat, and human health.

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) WARM Calculator

The equations used in environmental calculations try to consider the “full life cycle” of each material—everything from off-setting the demand for more virgin materials (tree harvesting, mining, etc.) to preventing the pollution that would have occurred if that material were disposed of (burned or buried). Different calculators may include some or all the many factors that contribute to the “full life cycle” so results will vary from calculator to calculator.

While there are many models emerging to calculate greenhouse gas reductions, the most recognized, and standard model is the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency’s Waste Reduction Model (WARM). WARM was designed to help solid waste planners and organizations track and voluntarily report greenhouse gas emissions reductions from several different waste management practices.

MTCO₂E (Metric tons of carbon dioxide emissions) are figures commonly used when discussing greenhouse gas emissions.

According to the WARM model, Roseville's recycling activities in 2024 reduced greenhouse gas emissions by 6,388 MTCO₂E (metric tons of carbon dioxide equivalent).

What do all these numbers mean?

In addition to preventing pollution, an important impact of recycling is that it conserves a huge amount of energy. Making products and packaging from raw materials harvested from nature uses a much larger amount of energy than using recycled materials. Every manufactured item has the energy used to make it "embedded" into it. Recycling takes advantage of that energy, as it is easier and more energy efficient to make a glass bottle from another glass bottle than from raw materials.

The WARM model and other calculators measure the difference between recycling all these tons of materials and using them to make new products versus sending them to an incinerator and making replacement products from raw materials. This difference is expressed as the amount of CO₂ that was not produced because we did not have to make and use all the energy that would have been needed if we used raw materials.

The numbers above help municipalities calculate and track their environmental footprint. For more information about the process of measuring the environmental benefits of waste reduction, visit <https://www.epa.gov/warm>.

These numbers, however, don't have much meaning to the average person. To help recyclers understand the significance of their actions, the EPA has also developed tools to translate these numbers into equivalent examples that people can more easily understand.

- For example, using the figures above, the EPA estimates that Roseville would have had to remove 1,490 gasoline-powered cars from the road for one year to have had the same environmental impact in 2024 as they did by recycling.
- Another way to look at it is that the residents of Roseville saved an amount of energy equivalent to 293,459 propane cylinders for backyard barbeques.

Although WARM is the most widely peer-reviewed and accepted model, it is considered to have several flaws. Many believe the use of this calculator is conservative, and understates the real impact of waste reduction efforts, but it offers a conservative starting place to measure our impacts and work towards our goals. Even with these conservative calculations, the impact of Roseville's recycling program proves to be quite significant.

Total Number of Stops	9,603

Eureka Recycling drivers educate residents at the curb using educational tags for specific problems. In 2024, drivers left approximately 475 educational tags on recyclers’ carts.

The most common reason residents received a tag in 2024 were contamination, including plastic bags, bulky plastic items, and other miscellaneous non-recyclable items.

Amount stored, by recyclable material

No recyclables have been stored at our facility longer than needed to generate quantities to ship.

The markets generally used for the sale of recyclables

Eureka Recycling continues to use the same markets for recyclables as were noted in the RFP. Eureka Recycling has always prioritized supporting local markets. In 2024, 75 percent of the material we processed stayed in Minnesota, 95 percent in the Midwest, and 100 percent stayed in the US.

Parks Recycling

We provided service to 27 Roseville Parks in 2024, with many of them being serviced as part of our regular routes collecting from multifamily or single-family homes.

We separately track tonnage for the dedicated park routes providing weekly or twice weekly service for 117 carts located in Central Park Lexington and Central Park Victoria West at the pavilions, near the ballfields, and along the pathways, and also the carts at Acorn, Concordia, and Lexington Parks. We collected a total of 17,880 pounds of recycling from these parks throughout the season.

Participation Trend Study Report

Over the past few years, Eureka Recycling has transitioned away from doing participation studies by hand-counting the number of carts that are out in several 200 household areas throughout each city, and replacing that study with a citywide, digital participation study using data from our digital routing system.

The study spans six weeks. Each time the truck tips a cart, that collection is recorded for that specific address. This data allows us to analyze all collection during a specific study period. The percentage of all addresses in each day's routes that register a tip in a given week is recorded as that week's set out rate, which is then averaged over the course of the study to calculate the city's set out rate.

The reports for each collection day are then sorted by address and duplicates are removed for households that set out more than once during the study period or who have more than one cart. The remaining list of addresses represents all households that participated in recycling at least once during the study, to arrive at the participation rate for the city.

There are some important things to remember when looking at this participation study data:

- For both digital and hand count data, the data is based on a "per building" or "per address" basis. If a cart is out at a duplex or a triplex, we count that address as participating on that day, and if there is not a cart out we count the address as not participating. There is no way for us to know which units are using the cart or carts that are set out. Similarly, for a single family home with two carts, we still count them as one participating address regardless of how many carts are out for collection.
- The "set out rate" is calculated by counting the number of addresses that set out a cart on each collection day, and taking the average of the number of carts set out each day during the six week study period.
- The "Participation Rate" is calculated by counting the percentage of unique addresses that participated in the program at least once during the six week study period.

Recycling Market Outlook for 2025

As expected, pricing in 2024 increased significantly compared to 2023 and then leveled out for most of the year. While paper pricing decreased towards the end of the year this decline was mostly counterbalanced by increases in plastic values. This past year inflation and fears of recession decreased, and in response, markets built up inventories that kept demand for recyclable materials strong.

End markets are hopeful that demand will remain solid throughout 2025. It is typical to see pricing hold steady or slump during the post-holiday winter months, but we are not currently seeing this usual trend in January 2025. No one expects pricing to return to the highs we saw during the pandemic, but they are cautiously optimistic that the recession people feared has been averted. That said, there are mixed opinions on what might happen if tariffs are implemented. Initially it could increase the value of material as demand for feedstock locally would drive up the price. However, it is likely trading partners will create retaliatory tariffs which could decrease demand and production for feedstock long term.

Eureka Recycling continues to have good relationships with our end markets and was able to move all our material in 2024. We have at least three markets interested in each material except for pop and beer boxes, aluminum foil, and glass. We regularly get positive comments regarding the quality of the recyclables we sell. Additionally, we continue to focus on local markets when possible – in 2024, 75 percent of the material we processed stayed in Minnesota, 95 percent in the Midwest, and 100 percent stayed in the US. These business practices have been in place for years and reflect our values around the environmental, economic, and human impacts of recycling.

Paper Markets: The paper and cardboard markets finally leveled out after WestRock closed their cardboard line in the fall of 2022. In 2024 we finally saw a stronger market for this material with mills in Wisconsin and Indiana building up capacity and creating a stronger Midwest market. Nonetheless, there was a slide in value in the fall of 2024, but after a year of gains most see this as the usual ups and downs of the markets and not indicative of a deeper trend. Most agree that tariffs would likely have a long-term detrimental effect on the price of paper and cardboard since retaliatory tariffs would reduce the demand for exported products that are typically packaged in boxboard and cardboard.

With the closing of the WestRock cardboard line we had no place to send pop and beer boxes for many months. We did find one market in the Midwest that turns this material into construction products (so it isn't turned back into paper). We are evaluating the impact of this and continue looking for other markets that accept this material. Prior to the closing of the WestRock cardboard line, we sent pop and beer boxes to this line where it could be pulped for longer. Because of the extra plastic lining on pop and beer boxes, when this material is mixed in with other paper it isn't likely to actually get recycled. When we remove it and ship it separately, some cardboard mills with the right equipment can pulp it separately for longer to separate the fiber from the plastic. We don't generate a lot of this material so we are currently able to move what we have but will continue to monitor this situation throughout the year regarding whether we can continue to accept this material.

Plastics markets had a mixed year with overall gains in pricing seen in PET (#1) and HDPE Natural (#2) but declines in HDPE Color (#2). Demand for PET bottles started out okay, increased over the spring and summer, and then decreased a bit in the fall. PET still ended the year significantly higher than it was at the start of the year. Eureka continues to engage with several brands directly about how to connect their corporate commitments to using recycled content with the actual supply chain to support the flow of PET bottles back into PET bottles.

HDPE Color initially followed a similar trend to PET but the price decline started in the summer and fell pretty dramatically through the rest of the year, ending with a value less than half of what it was at the beginning of the year.

HDPE Natural had a very strong year. Plastics with no coloring added tend to have a higher value than colored plastics (HDPE Color and PP), and we definitely saw this last year with pricing nearly doubling by the end of the year. Most end markets believe this high can't last and expect the pricing to come down some in 2025.

The third type of plastics we sort, polypropylene (PP, #5), remained flat throughout 2024. Markets are expected to hold steady in the upcoming year as well.

Metals markets strengthened slightly at the beginning of 2024. Steel cans dipped in the spring and did a gradual slide into the fall, while Aluminum can pricing continued to escalate rising to nearly double what it was at the start of the year. Experts believe aluminum pricing will remain high, especially with the current threat of tariffs and sanctions against Russia (a major aluminum producer). Since most aluminum cans are made back into beverage cans, when virgin aluminum imports are reduced, the price for local recycled aluminum cans tends to increase.

Eureka Recycling's efforts helped pass Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) legislation in Minnesota in 2024. Under EPR, producers will be accountable for the entire life cycle of their products and packaging, stimulating a fundamental shift in material and design choices. This shift will put pressure on producers to prioritize recyclable and recycled materials in their designs, with a deadline requiring all packaging to be designed for recycling, reuse, or composting by 2032. Furthermore, there will be minimum content requirements ensuring that the packaging created will have an end market interested in recycling it into a new product. Lastly, the law will require half of recycling collection and processing costs to be covered by 2029 and 90% by 2032, which will relieve much of the burden currently placed on municipalities and residents to cover the cost of collecting, sorting, and recycling this material. The next several years are a critical step in the EPR process as there will be a needs assessment conducted to identify costs and recycling infrastructure needs in the state. Throughout this process Eureka Recycling will continue to advocate for zero-waste systems that benefit our community. This includes championing the need for recycling programs that include safe living wage jobs, keep resources in our community, and reduce the need for resource extraction.

Log of Contamination Reported by Drivers in Roseville: 2024

This is a log of addresses where drivers have reported contamination in the recycling carts in addition to tagging. Our GPS based data is accurate enough to allow us to look for trends on a neighborhood-basis, but does not always record data on precisely the correct house, depending on the relationship between where the real cart is actually placed and how close that is to the expected collection site stored in the system. It is not uncommon for data to be assigned to a neighboring house, which does not impact our customer relations team's ability to use this information to help resolve issues when residents call.

Eureka Recycling Composition Analysis Methodology

Eureka Recycling collects materials in a single sort collection system with all paper, cardboard, metal and plastic, steel, aluminum and glass containers combined by residents into one cart. Each year we conduct an annual composition study of the single sort material to determine the percentage each material represents in the overall composition.

Our mission is to reduce waste today through innovative resource management and to reach a waste-free tomorrow by demonstrating that waste is preventable, not inevitable.

Composition by Commodity of Each Recycling Stream

During the composition study we weigh each truck before and after to determine the weight of the material. Each truck has a stored weight that is updated regularly for accuracy. This process allows us to determine the initial weight of the material set out by residents during the period being analyzed.

The composition study starts with Eureka Recycling storing all of the materials collected in the city during a one-week period. These materials are stored in a separate bunker from all other materials at the facility. We sort the material separately from all other recycling at the facility.

The sorted materials are then baled or put into a hopper and transported with a forklift to the truck scale to be weighed. Finally, we weigh the total amount of each sorted material grade including the non-recyclable material (residual) to establish the percentage of the total tonnage that each material type represents in the overall composition.

Participation Trend Analysis Methodology

Eureka Recycling conducts an annual participation study in which both set-out and participation rates are analyzed and documented.

(651) 222-SORT (7678)
www.eurekarecycling.org

The set-out rate is the average number of households that set materials out for recycling collection on a given day. Not every household sets out their recycling each week. If they are out of town, forget, or simply don't have very much in their cart they may not have a cart out for collection on their day. The set-out rate is the average percentage of households that set out material on a weekly basis during the study period.

Our mission is to reduce waste today through innovative resource management and to reach a waste-free tomorrow by demonstrating that waste is preventable, not inevitable.

The participation rate is the number of households who set materials out for recycling collection at least once over the period of the study.

The participation rate is a better indication of overall recycling participation because it includes households that recycle at least once over the course of six weeks, recognizing that some households may not set out recycling every week. It more accurately indicates how many households are participating in the recycling program overall, as opposed to the number of participants on a specific day.

Summary of Process

The study spans six collection weeks. Each time the truck tips a cart, that collection is recorded for that specific address. This data allows us to analyze all collection during a specific study period. The percentage of all addresses in each day's routes that register a tip in a given week is recorded as that week's set out rate, which is then averaged over the course of the study.

The reports are then sorted by address and duplicates are removed for households that set out more than once during the study period. The remaining list of addresses represents all households that participated in recycling at least once during the study, to arrive at the participation rate for the city.
